

Audrey R. Lee, Ed. D.

Assistant Superintendent of Instruction

Francis Tuttle Technology Center, Oklahoma City, OK

Dr. Audrey Lee has been dedicated and passionate about advocating for the continued advancement of career and technical education since she began at Francis Tuttle Technology Center in 2009. As the Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, she is responsible for the comprehensive oversight of curriculum, instruction, educational trends and initiatives, innovative practices, and helps to support the implementation of a district-wide strategic plan.

Audrey is proud to have served the institution in many roles. She began her educational journey as the infusion instructor for Careers in Healthcare and Biosciences. After teaching for five years, she became the Assistant Director for the Portland Campus, where she gained an understanding of various technical and technology-driven programs and the Engineering Academy. She then was given the opportunity to lead health-related programs and the Biosciences and Medicine Academy, serving as the Assistant Director for the Health Sciences Center for two years. In her last year as an Assistant Instructional Director, she served the Reno Campus, working with the Project HOPE program and additional duplicated programs. She then was appointed as the Instructional Director for the Portland Campus, where she served for three years.

Audrey holds a Doctorate of Education degree in Educational Leadership from Oral Roberts University, a Master of Science degree in Health and Human Performance from Oklahoma City University, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Health Science Education from the University of Central Arkansas.
